

A book about perfecting your confidence, your approach, your close, and your follow up

Distributed by: Up-Page Pub.

The Preface

I want to dedicate this book to the many of times I have seen my relationship advice actually work over the years. I will help give the correct situational strategies to those looking to be a classic ladies man. I am not a professional in the sense of degrees or certifications yet I have studied the ways of gaining and keeping the attention of the ladies. I see all people as having similar thought processes due to most of us being given the same compulsory public education; essentially we communicate differently yet the same. One may wonder why I chose the word “courting” in context with “hoes”, it is purposeful. That is exactly what whores are looking for inside what they would consider a sucker; so you will learn to play the sucker to catch a sucker. Do not stand to save women who are not worth the time. Women who are not worth your time usually only have one thing to offer, love, yet are looking for us to offer multiple things. In my opinion, only 10% of women are worth marrying; they are self driven, respectful, humble, busy and have the same desire to create a strong family foundation all while maintaining success in their own lives. Though I feel most women do not deserve to be saved I also believe in true love for everybody, even if they have been used like a lucky sock. To clarify, this book does not promote the defamation of any woman's character nor disrespecting women in general. This is a guide for the guys to spread knowledge of things we should have been raised with, and for the ladies to benefit from a more mature male population. I will cover things like eye contact, body language, physical conversion, and most important self confidence. Let's dive into eye contact.

Eye Contact

I've chose to start with eye contact because initial appeal is usually developed by sight. This chapter will explain how to dance with your eyes, how to analyze her reaction, and then how to capitalize. Remember, just because a woman flirts with you does not mean she is consenting to a good ole-fashion ground and pound. Never assume. The way you look at her is important, so let's get right into it. The first thing to do is let her know that you are interested in bussing her knees loose. How do you accomplish this? Eye contact must be made and your eyes must read "I want to buss down!". You want your look to be a gaze. A gaze that says "I've never seen a woman so beautiful in my life.". Once the look has been locked in, your sole purpose is to analyze how she is receiving your attention. Did she shy away or show signs of ignoring your efforts? You must take anything that is not obvious as undetermined. Anything undetermined is a waste of your time playapotna, she is not worthy of further analyzing; she is too hard to read. Do not chase what you do not know, instead double down on clear messaging. If she shows signs of disgust or ignoring you, you must move on with your day young King. Never take a rejection to your eye contact as the end all be all; consider her to be later pussy, might work out later might not. You can then place any woman who does not positively respond to your attention on your practice squad or make her a towel girl, because she is not a star but she has potential. Do not cancel them out, for they do not understand your value and that is perfectly fine. It is hard to see the tree when it is only a seed. Now, let's say she entertains your attention by giving a smile, a wave, a glare back, or even speaking. This does not mean that she wants to be put in a full nelson, but it does mean your attention has been received as intriguing. At this point it is up to you whether or not you will engage in conversation. Sheryar's Theory states that in the case you are looking to verbally approach a woman, do not think about it for long. You must begin to speak within 3 seconds of wanting to engage or else you've already lost the battle mentally. Anything pass 3 seconds will cause overthinking and you may end up looking like a total shrimp trying to recite lines you've made up on the spot. So let's say you two have caught each other in a stare down. You will want to take this opportunity to see if she is willing to give you another sign that she is open to more of your attention. How you say? While making eye contact with her you must begin to subtly smile and see if she returns the smile or vice versa if she smiles first. This can lead to an arrange of different options that you can use to further analyze her interests. If you're a well established playa-potna then a subtle body glance could give the woman an idea of where your interests lie, some of that good ole coochie. Yet, if you're not that experienced do not try this trick. If you are well experienced and meet no resistance to undressing her with your eyes, you have two situations that are in front of you.

She is either trying to set you up to give her attention because she lacks it in life or she is truly trying to slurp you up and let you smash her like a sack of potatoes; one or the other..... choose your next steps wisely. Never say or move upon anything sexual, directly. Because she may seem like she is sexually available, yet it does not mean she is. Again, she may use her body to attract attention and she is actually lonely and looking for a life partner to wallow in sorrow with her for eternity; you do not want that, do you? That is NOT the type of situation any playa-potna wants to deal with. You are looking to butter up them buns and crush em to crumbs. So to summarize eye contact: 1. Make sure she knows you find her attractive by using a long glance. 2. If you can, express your intent subtly with your eyes as she looks back (glance at her lips then back to her eyes). 3. Assess how she is receiving your eyes to determine the likelihood of a Sheryar's approach. Once you are at the point of an approach, do not expect things to go anywhere further. Remember, you are experimenting to better your skills, not to score because scoring is always in the hands of the woman.

The Approach

Secondly, we will discuss your approach. This stage of communication becomes slightly complex due to how confident and how comfortable you are with speaking to women. This is where chemistry plays a huge factor in if you will receive positive responses. Everyone is different and everyone has their own style of self. Using your natural humor and the things in the immediate environment will increase the chances of flattering a woman and possibly having her to like you. Women are subtle creatures so your energy must speak louder than your words. What I mean by this is do not approach her with the body language that she is anything less than a lady. Even if she is dressed like a complete slut. Directly facing a woman is a big No-No. Why? Women tend to not like to be challenged and standing face to face is a subtle way of saying I am challenging you. Instead, stand at an angle. She will feel less pressured by your presence and associate your intent as none threatening and innocent. It is even better if you are able to speak to her while still remaining to do what you were currently doing. Example, you're in the grocery store and you see a baddie. She is coming down the aisle you are on. You glance first and then continue to look, but in areas around her as if there is something you want on the shelves behind her. As she approaches, you wait to speak until she has to turn around to speak to you. She turns around, you are not facing her because you are looking at something on the shelf. You are still communicating with her with your voice but not with your body. The conversion must be short and to the point. What do we need as playapotas to accomplish dropping lumber in women like a wood chipper? We need consent to speak, an age, a number, and relationship status. The first three things must all be gathered in ways subtle and indirect. Consent to speak can be gathered by saying “Hey do you use these products, if so which one would you suggest?”. If she responds, she has given us consent to speak. An age can be gathered by sight mostly but if she looks on the border-line of high school and college you can ask something like, “So what college do you go to?”. If she responds, she will explain how she is either still in high school or has exceeded the high school age of 17 and under. A number is next. This can be a cell phone number, a social media account, or even a business card. Neither give us any advantage in pursuing the buns, just gives us a way to exchange information with the woman. This one though can be subtly gathered or directly gathered. You can directly ask but always give options that work in your favor; “what’s your number or a social account that I can follow?”, this will give you a clue of how close she wants you to begin with her. Social accounts are great but not as personal as a phone number, yet always give options when her effort is wanted. While asking for this you may encounter the last necessity which is the relationship status. She may surrender or lie about being in a relationship if she doesn’t have much interest in your approach.

Side note - Women are either loyal or not. There is no equation to calculate the loyalty in a woman because loyalty is demonstrated when we are not aware that it is being tested. So if a woman lies about her having a significant other, the interactions with her will show. Do NOT get into interactions with women who are looking for a way out. There is nothing but trouble in saving women who wish not to save themselves, move on young King. Your time is much more precious.

If she responds as not interested. Do not remain to say anything else. Walk off and do not look back in her direction. This is a sign of respect for her relationship or for her not wanting to give her number out. Fuck her, she is no longer valuable to you. If she responds with giving you a number, say, “well I’d rather give you mine.”, and then you give her your number. This way, she will be forced to show interest in you because you know you’re already interested in her. Do not wait for a call, your mission is complete whether she contacts you or not. This is the same with social accounts if she chooses to give that instead of a number. If she is not willing to follow you first, walk off and do not look back in her direction. Your time is way more valuable than the games she is about to bring into your life young King. So to wrap up this chapter there are a few things to remember.

1. Build your confidence of self. Know a little about who you are so you are able to attract a woman who likes you for who are rather than what you show her you possess. 2. Body language is extremely important so never stand face to face with a woman. Instead, position yourself at an angle so she feels more comfortable. 3. Use Sheryar's Theory. Do not ponder too long on what to say, just say. Practice this because women love to have stimulating forms of conversation. Sex being number one. 4. Gather the necessities. Consent, age, number, and status. Indirect advances are seen as safe and harmless so lean towards covert tactics rather than overtly gathering these four necessities.

The Closing

Finally, the next step in courting the whores is getting to get up in them like an enema. So as you are speaking with her, only speak on meeting up. Do not waste your time trying to get to know her from a distance. This is a turn-off and she will perceive you as wasting her time when there are plenty of other guys willing to spend their time and money on her presence. Also, let's remember that sexual intercourse is much more than pelvis thrusting. This is an exchange of energy from one body to the next. Be careful who you proceed to lay with, because there may be hidden traumas and lurking insecurities that may transgress into your energy after laying with a negative woman. Be wise young Kings, for the most negative souls are usually the easiest to lay and the most physically attracting souls are usually full of other male energies. Now that that's out of the way, how do we smash? The trick to smashing, is to not give the impression that you want to. Women tend to not want to give men what they want because western world society teaches them that they will lose the males attention if he receives what he wants. Attention is more valuable to ‘whores’ than love. Women are being taught to enjoy being chased which is rape culture and we are not rapists. So, our mission is to make their time and friendship seem to be the most important thing to us once we have started to interact with them. Never bring up sex. You only respond to sexual conversation with innuendos. Innuendos are suggestive hints to allude to something contextual. Example, you two are hanging at her spot and she says, “Man I use to be such a dick chaser when I was younger.”. You could say, “You wouldn’t have had to chase me.”. Say this in a joking manner and continue the conversation as if you never said anything. Always say these things with perfect timing and as if you never said them to disguise the fact that your penis is ready to dive in her goodie goodness. Control thy urge to demolish and instead build the tension along with her. And exit before you are pulled into doing things on her time. We are not here to be puppets for anyone. If she would or is going to have sex with you, that matter has already been decided in her own world. You control the time and space in which it happens, so then she isn't able to trick you by using her vagina as some form of collateral for maintaining your attention. Do not fall for 'love' after experiencing some vagina that your body has chemistry with. It is merely a sign that your two energies are able to flow in a way that excites you. This is not love nor is it long term. Some women will use this as a way to lure young Kings off their paths. Be wise and be strong. Buss them cheeks open and get back to your train of success. Do not pity a woman for being sad that she cannot have your attention anymore; it is a trick and a play on your emotions. We have none to play upon as playapotas. This is all experimentation. Do not place your heart within your practices. Establish a rhythm and move on from any failure or victory as if they are one in the same. Once you have her willing to give up them buns on your time and on your conditions, you must perform with purpose to have her speak to her whore colleagues about how you folded her like a napkin. Maybe you can take one of the gas station viagra pills 15 mins before she arrives or get your first set of soldiers deployed before she arrives so you can guarantee a better performance level. Directly gather sexual consent before you enter her goodie goodness. "May I smash you?". Anything that states you asking to enter her, will work. Once in there, knock her fucking knees loose. Don't be all aggression, mix the pot with finesse, aggression, talking to her, and treating her like she is nothing. How do you treat her like she is nothing? Grab her entire face with you palm and push her face into the wall or mattress. Tell her not to look you in the eyes until she is having an orgasm because she isn't worthy of your eye contact unless so. And to end the occasion, you just leave. Do not hug her good-bye, do not kiss her good-bye, act as if you didn't even just have sex. If she brings it up you say, “I don’t know what you’re talking about.”. You can either remain around, but remember to act as if nothing happened or you can make an excuse to leave. Always use an excuse that pertains to business; you are either late to a meeting or you need to be heading to lie down to prepare yourself for a meeting. Do not lie your head at her place. That is a big No-No. You are not a puppet nor anyone’s property. The woman will associate you to be of their possession if you lie your head at their place. Leave.

The Follow Up

This is the follow up. What do you do once you have received what you wanted. You do the same thing you did before. If you did things correctly, you did not establish a pattern that tells her she has a chance to be your girlfriend. You only hit her up to hang out when you had time to hang out. You did not talk on the phone all day or send texts back and forth all day. So do not fall for the trap once she has given you some of her goodie goodness. She may say things like ,”Do you miss me.”. You can reply with ,”Of course I miss us hanging out and talking. We have the best conversations.”. Do not speak on any sexual encounters. If you only hit her up once a week, if the goodie was good enough to go back for seconds, remain at once a week. Greed may lead you into being a husband to someone you only sought out to smash like a candy yam. Be wise young Kings. The woman may try to flaunt herself in front of you to entice you to be trapped, say no every time. You have never been responsible for anyone’s happiness but your own. So if she is now associating sadness to you, never speak to her again. Stand on this. Move on. You lose nothing but gain everything, and that everything is control of your own destiny.

If She Treats You Like A Simp

She may come on to you like she wants you to be her boyfriend. You must not mind. You must not say anything to bring up the topic though either. You must treat her with respect and spend time with her however you two feel fits best and give her game when around her. If she wants you to pound her like a bag of stiff ice, then she will let you sliggaty slam during the duration of you being around her. If the duration goes outside of your liking of time, do not react in an emotional manner. React in a manner of decisiveness. You appreciate her time and understand you have moved out of interest to speak to her on a level to pursue anything past a friendship. She is later pussy possibly but no real way to tell so essentially you must move on. Do not shoot super low on your duration because that will decrease the amount of buns you will be able to buss into crumbs. Do not mix anything after this, because things will only get worse. You are not here to fight wars. So do not speak on anything if she does speak on anything as far as relationships. You are free to do as you please after you score however many times she allows or you'd like and then let the connection cease when you feel ready to never speak to her again.

THE END

